

FIVE JUNE BRIDES MISSED SUNSHINE

But Beauty and Flowers and Music Atoned for the Weather.

TWO CHURCH WEDDINGS.

Elizabeth Bella Campbell Becomes the Wife of Dr. Frederick
W. Lester.

MISS TIMPSON IS MRS. GRAY.

St. Matthew's Church the Scene of the Marriage of a Daughter of the Late Charles H. Flagg to Arthur Deans Pentland.

Five pretty girls defied the rain yesterday and became happy brides. Miss Elizabeth Bella Campbell's marriage to Dr. Frederick William Lester, of Seneca Falls, N. Y., took place at 3:30 o'clock, in the drawing room of her home.

Elizabeth Bella Campbell, the June Bride of Dr. F. W. Lester.

No. 2 West Eighty-third street. Gowned in white brocade, elaborately trimmed with pearl passementerie and old family point lace, which was worn by her mother at her marriage, she made a charming picture standing against a background of palms and pink roses, which banked the fireplace.

A maid of honor, Miss Caroline Lester, sister of the groom, and three bridesmaids, Miss C. Duffell, Miss Heloise Smith and Miss Jessie Robertson, attended her, all dressed alike in lace-trimmed white organdie, made over with white silk. They carried bouquets of pink roses, the stems and leaves tucked under their arms, which by the way, is the newest fashion.

At the improvised chapel, Dr. Lester and his brother, George Lester, who served him as best man, met the bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Dr. Clarence C. Howard. The Rev. Mr. De la Roche, of the Church of All Angels, performed the marriage ceremony. The ushers were Dr. Clarence Greenleaf, of Rochester; Devereaux Elms and C. Smith.

After the marriage, a reception was held from 4 until 6 o'clock, when Dr. and Mrs. Lester left for their wedding journey.

Mrs. Lester is the daughter of the late John C. Campbell, formerly engineer-in-chief of the Department of Public Works, and the granddaughter of the late Judge James S. Campbell, of Cherry Valley.

Gray-Timpson. At the Pilgrim Congregational Church, Madison avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-first street, Miss Sarah Mabel Timpson, daughter of the late Thomas W. Timpson, was married yesterday at 5 p. m. to Mr. John Marion Gray, of Pueblo, Col. The wedding music of "Lohengrin" was played as the bride entered the church with her brother-in-law, Mr. Harry T. Smith, who gave her away. Her gown of pink and white brocade was a pleasing change from the regulation bridal costume of white satin. In the lace at her throat was a superb diamond sunburst, the bridegroom's gift. Four ushers—Frederick Hartford, William M. Murray, Harry Elberhard and Howard Adams—preceded her to the chancel, where Mr. Gray, attended by Mr. George Weston, of Boston, awaited her.

During the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Virglin, "Oh, Promise Me" was played on the organ; Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played as the bride left the church. A reception was held later, from 5:30 until 9 p. m., at the home of the bride's mother, No. 2 West One Hundred and Thirtieth street, where Mr. and Mrs. Gray received the good wishes of their friends. An orchestra of mandolins and guitars furnished the music, and an elaborate buffet supper was served.

Clark-Borst. Miss Ada Estelle Borst was married at her home, No. 144 West Thirtieth street, last evening, at 7:30 o'clock, to Mr. Francis Allen Clark. The Rev. Howard Duffield, of the First Presbyterian Church, at Twelfth street and Fifth avenue, performed the ceremony. This was held in the drawing room, in a grove of palms between the windows. Daisies and greens banked the fireplace and the arches of the doors. The little ribbon maids, Helen and Louise Clark, sisters of the bridegroom, rode an aisle through the room with long white ribbons, the bride's party passing between them, before a shower of flowers thrown by the children.

The bridal cortege was composed of four vehicles, the Messrs. Frederick C. Borst, John Tredennick, E. B. Camp, Meriden, Conn., and Frederick F. Bennett, of Holyoke, Mass., and a maid of honor, the bride's sister, Miss Alice Gertrude Borst, who wore white organdie over yellow silk and carried white carnations. The bride's gown was of white satin, with trappings of duchesse lace, over which fell a long tulle veil. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. She was given away by her mother, Mrs. Lucy E. Borst. A reception was held after the ceremony. Mr. Clark is a graduate of Yale, class of '94, and was an collegiate bicyclist champion in 1889-1890.

Pentland-Flagg. Pines and potted plants decorated St. Matthew's Church on West Eighty-fourth street last evening for the marriage of Miss Clara Estelle Flagg, daughter of the late Charles H. Flagg, to Arthur Deans Pentland, of Edinburgh, Scotland. It was performed by the Rev. William V. Morr, of the Church of the Holy Communion, at 8 o'clock, and was largely attended. The bride being one of the most popular girls in West End society. She is a tall brunette, and looked very handsome in white silk made over with white tulle and trimmed with old family duchesse lace. This was draped above a deep white satin bodice belt on the waist. She was given away by Mr. Charles A. Hatfield, and was attended by a little flower maid, Miss Grace Miller, dressed in pink silk, covered with white organdie and carrying a big basket of pink sweet peas. Mr. George H. Morgan, of Brooklyn, served Mr. Pentland as best man, and the ushers were the Messrs. Raymond F. Randolph, C. A. Theller, Dr. G. Edmunds and James Malt, a cousin of the bridegroom. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride, No. 71 West Eighty-fifth street.

Sniffen-Penning. At the residence of her father, Mr. Philip Penning, No. 83 West One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, Miss Emma A. Penning was married last evening at 8 o'clock to Mr. Charles Mervin Sniffen, of White Plains, N. Y. The ceremony was performed in the drawing room under a canopy of palms and pink and white blossoms, by the Rev. C. De Witt Bridgman, of Holy Trinity Church, Harlem. The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with duchesse lace, and wore a tulle veil. Her bouquet was of pink roses. She was given away by her mother, Miss Elise M. Penning, who was her bridesmaid. Emily Augusta Penning, of Princeton, N. J., was the flower girl. Her frock was of pink silk covered with white organdie, and her basket was filled with pink roses. Mr. Samuel Sniffen, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were George Long, of White Plains, and Philip Penning, Jr. A reception was held after the ceremony, and was followed by dancing and a supper.

Flowers for an Heiress. Decorations at the Anderson-Perkins wedding, at Boston, Will Be Very Elaborate. Boston, June 9.—The Anderson-Perkins wedding to-morrow will be the greatest, in point of wealth, which has occurred in this city in years. The bride, Miss Isabelle Perkins, is said to be worth $200,000. The wedding will take place in the Arlington Street Church, and the wedding breakfast will be served at No. 123 Commonwealth avenue, the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Perkins.

The decorations at the church and house are very elaborate. The florists began adorning the church last Monday, and will not finish until the last moment. Masses of asparagus and domes vine have been twisted about the pillars. Early to-morrow morning ropes of asparagus vine, with roses attached, will be suspended between the columns over the altar. Roses will be placed in every part of the church.

Above the altar will be hung the bridal veil, a magnificent creation of white tulle, with a fringe of lilies of the valley and roses. The reserved pews will be marked off by silk ribbon and a bouquet of pink ribbon will be suspended at each pew. Children will scatter flowers down the aisle as the bridal party proceeds.

At the house a special balcony has been erected, and the big bay window will be filled with potted plants and bunches of roses. Tapestries will adorn the walls, and on these more roses, carefully strewn, and long-stemmed American Beauties will hang. Tall vases filled with American Beauties and lilies of the valley in lower vases will constitute the table decorations. The couple will leave for New York after the wedding breakfast and sail for France next day.

Peffer's Daughter Married. Topeka, June 9.—James S. McIlhenny, superintendent of the Washington Gas Company, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Nellie Peffer, daughter of ex-United States Senator Peffer, were married here to-day at the home of the bride's parents.

Blamed in Theory Only. No Charges Against Inspector Thompson and Captain O'Keefe Because of "Silly Dinner."

Chief of Police Conlin yesterday rendered to the Police Board his report on the "Silly Dinner," which was played for some few days in Clarendon Hall, at Nos. 114 and 116 East Thirtieth street, and which caused the raising of the place and the arrest of six of the actors and actresses. Appended to the report of Chief Conlin, there were other matters of interest, and the rounding up of detectives responsible, but with Acting Inspector Thompson and Captain O'Keefe the case was different. Both the law and the department rules require them to know what is going on within their respective jurisdictions. For any such lack of knowledge they are theoretically culpable. Chief Conlin further said that Inspector Thompson and Captain O'Keefe had 500 places to visit, and that under the circumstances an oversight in a place like Clarendon Hall might be due to rush of business. Charges will not be preferred.

MORGAN ARRIVES IN ENGLISH TOGS.

Home from London with More Luggage Than a
Prima Donna.

CAME ON THE TEUTONIC.

His Yacht Corsair Alongside the Pier to Receive Half of His Baggage.

J. Pierpont Morgan returned from London yesterday with his English manservant and forty-seven pieces of luggage. He was also accompanied by Mrs. John B. Morgan and Miss Ursula Morgan and maid. They came on the White Star Line steamship Teutonic, which reached her dock shortly after 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Morgan wore a suit which breathed the atmosphere of Piccadilly from every one of its broad stripes. It was of rough, dark tweed with pronounced lines of white running perpendicularly. He carried no cane, but had a field glass case swung across his shoulder. His manservant carried a small green alligator portmanteau, which appeared to be treasured above all of the other forty-six pieces of luggage.

Upon reaching the dock Mr. Morgan shook hands hurriedly with the small group of his business associates, and at once turned his attention to the mountain of trunks, bags and travelling cases which bore the letter M. in black within a circle of bright red. He actually smiled when he shook hands in vigorous fashion with the customs officer who inspected his baggage. The inspection was expeditiously performed. A curious crowd stood by and watched. Very few of the forty-seven pieces were examined.

Under Mr. Morgan's direction the baggage was then assorted into two separate piles, one made up of folding tables and light luggage, the other of trunks. A door at the opposite side of the dock was opened and the Corsair, his beautiful yacht, was seen moored alongside the pier. Mr. Morgan's son jumped over the rail, sought his father out in an instant, and the two cordially embraced each other.

The lighter baggage was placed on board the yacht. The large trunks were sent to the Morgan city residence. After looking over the Corsair to see that she was shipshape, the party entered a carriage and were driven to the residence, No. 210 Madison avenue. Before leaving the pier Mr. Morgan said:

"My trip abroad was for recreation and I had a very pleasant time. The ladies in my party also enjoyed it very much. We were in London nearly all of the time, at Buckland's Hotel, Grosvenor square, Police? Oh, no, I haven't thought of politics and have nothing to say on that subject. Impressions? I haven't time to talk about impressions now, even if I had formed any."

Mr. Morgan said the Corsair was going up the river to her dock and that he had no thought of going away on her, but would be at his Wall Street office to-day. "I didn't care," said he, "to stay for the Queen's Jubilee; had to hurry back. That's all I can say now."

Despite the statement of Mr. Morgan that his regular trip abroad this year was for recreation, it is known in financial circles that he went to consummate several important deals. Mr. Morgan is now liquidating the debt of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, already successfully accomplished; the transfer of the controlling interest in the Northern Pacific, and the placing of securities of the Lehigh Valley Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan who reorganized the Northern Pacific Railroad, and with his friends obtained a controlling interest in the stock. To arrange the transfer of this controlling interest, on a trunk company composing great banking firms in London, Amsterdam, Berlin and Hamburg, with the Deutsche Bank, of Berlin, as the chief factor in control of the property, was the biggest piece of business he had on hand in his European trip.

The plan of Mr. Morgan's trip is now vacant, a nd Mr. Morgan is soon to name a man for the post. Daniel S. Lamont, ex-Secretary of War, is slated for the post. His election is expected to occur very soon.

Changes in the management of the Lehigh Valley Road are expected to follow Mr. Morgan's return. It is said that he placed large blocks of Lehigh Valley and Philadelphia and Reading securities with European investors. Foreign banks have not shown much inclination heretofore to invest in the securities of American coal roads.

Happenings in Society. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes returned from a brief visit to Newport on Tuesday. Leonard Dehman has established his studio in Riverside, Conn., for the Summer and Autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood B. Ferris and the Misses Ferris will spend the summer in camp in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bliss, who arrived from Europe two days ago, will spend the season at Shadyside Farm, Narragansett Pier.

A large party of New Yorkers will attend the wedding to-day in Boston of Miss Isabelle Perkins and Lata Anderson, going over from Newport to the Hub.

Mrs. David, of No. 44 West Ninety-first street, will give a large reception to-night.

Charles Martin Clark, of No. 831 Madison avenue, will be married on Monday to Beulah Milligan, at the Church of the Messiah, Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash Rockwood, nee Shonaker, who were married on Monday in Saratoga Springs, will sail to-morrow for Europe.

Former Governor and Mrs. Sprague, who arrived from Paris last Monday, went directly to Narragansett Pier for the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Schieffelin will sail for Europe on the outgoing steamer next Monday, accompanied by their youngest daughter, Miss Dorothy Schieffelin.

One of the notable weddings of next week will be that of Miss Margaret Morgan and Adam Gordon Norrie, to be celebrated on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William Deane Morgan, No. 20 Washington Square North.

The wedding of William Randolph Yard, who is a member of the Second Division First Naval Battalion, S. N. 1, and Miss Sarah Elizabeth Jones will be very quietly celebrated next Wednesday, owing to a recent death in the bridegroom's family.

The wedding of Miss Blanche Uhlmann, daughter of Simon Uhlmann and niece of Frederick Uhlmann, president of the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad Company, to David Heller, will be celebrated at 6 o'clock this evening in the Midway Savoy.

At present rates Paris would like them back again, for they average only half proper and early prices. But this business tolerates no two season fancy goods. They go as they come, within one season. Splendid Summer company. Magnificent economy.
